WHAT IS THE MARSHALL & STERLING LEAGUE?

The Marshall & Sterling League was first designed to encourage and enhance the competition level of Children's and Adult riders by providing the opportunity to qualify for a prestigious National Finals competition. For nearly two decades, the Marshall & Sterling League has stayed at the forefront of hunter/jumper competition, having grown from 10 member shows and approximately 100 riders in 1991, to over 800 horse shows and more than 2,500 riders today. <http://www.hitsshow.com/marshallsterling/>

Feeding the Rapidly Growing Foal

Sarah L. Ralston, VMD, Ph.D., dACVN, Department of Animal Science, School of Environmental and Biological Sciences, Rutgers University

Fact Sheet #895 - Reviewed 2004

http://www.es.rutgers.com/publications/factsheets\_nutrition/FS895.htm

Large foals that are growing rapidly are often considered to be at increased risk of developmental orthopedic disease (DOD). A multifactorial problem, DOD includes problems such as osteochondrosis dessicans (defective bone and cartilage at the joint surface), epiphysitis (enlarged, painful growth plates), flexure and angular limb deformities, and perhaps wobblers syndrome. Genetics, nutrition and exercise all play a role in the incidence of DOD in horses.

Hereditary predisposition to at least OCD is well documented in Standardbred and Swedish warmblood horses, with the incidence as high as 45% in some bloodlines. However, the genetic defect that causes the growth associated problems in the horses has not been identified. Breeds selected for rapid growth are at increased risk of developing problems, but it is not growth rate alone that causes the problem. It is not always the most rapidly growing foal that develops DOD, but often the one with the most erratic growth rate.

Trauma due to excessive concussion, due either to severe obesity or forced exercise, may increase the incidence of DOD. Other reports, however, revealed that restriction of exercise adversely impacts bone growth and development in young horses. Turning the foals out in as large an area (either pasture or paddock) as possible for as long as possible is highly recommended. Ideally they should get 24-hour turnout. However, strenuous forced exercise, especially lunging in circles, should be avoided. Foals should not be allowed to become obese.

Mineral imbalances have been well documented to cause DOD. Deficiencies of calcium, phosphorus and/or copper all result in defective bone maturation. Zinc toxicity and perhaps deficiency also have resulted in lesions, though the effects of simple zinc deficiency are not well documented. The optimal intakes of copper and zinc for young horses have not been well defined. Current recommendations for mineral content of rations for foals less than 1 year of age are given in Table 1.

Excessive protein (greater than 16%) was incriminated as a cause of DOD in the 1970s but subsequent studies have not revealed a direct relationship between high protein rations and DOD. Weanlings fed rations deficient in protein (less than 12%) had reduced growth rates and poor bone mineralization compared to weanlings fed rations which were higher in protein. Restricting protein in a rapidly growing foal's ration will not result in improved bone growth and may actually be detrimental to the animal.

Rations providing over 100% of the National Research Council's recommended amounts of energy for rapid growth in foals may cause an increased incidence of DOD, especially if the ration contains more than 50% sweet feed (grain mix plus molasses) or other high sugar concentrate by weight. High carbohydrate rations such as sweet feeds may contribute to the appearance of DOD, possibly related to the high blood glucose and insulin and low blood pH they cause for up to 4 hours after feeding. Pelleted and extruded feeds tend to have lower molasses contents and higher fiber concentrations have a lesser effect on glucose and insulin. Pelleting appears to affect the availability of carbohydrates and pelleted concentrates may cause lower glucose and insulin changes than textured feeds with the same basic formulation (Ralston, 1992). There may be a correlation between OCD and glucose intolerance (abnormally high blood glucose and insulin after a meal of sweet feed) in foals that are genetically predisposed to the problem.

Recommendations

Nursing foals should be introduced to concentrates when they are 1 to 2 months of age. The concentrate should contain 14 to 18% protein and have added calcium, phosphorus, copper and zinc (see Table 1) in a formulation designed specifically for growing horses. The higher percentages of protein and calcium should be used if only grass hay is available. The lower percentages can be used with legume or legume/grass mix hays. Concentrates should be fed at the rate of 0.25% to 1.0% of body weight, with the emphasis on maintaining lean body condition (ribs not visible but can be felt with mild pressure over the flank; loin, croup and neck have smooth outlines without creases or visible bony structures). If the lower amounts are fed (less than 0.5% body weight), addition of a balanced calcium/phosphorus mix might be necessary to maintain the proper mineral intake. Ideally the foals should be fed regulated amounts that are inaccessible to their dams or other foals at least once, preferably twice, a day. The dams also should be fed the same concentrate if the foal has access to the mare's feed.

Don't let the foal get obese (obvious crease down the back, ribs can not be easily felt) or excessively thin (ribs easily visible, hip bones prominent, hair coat dull and shaggy). If group feeding foals and mares, monitor their condition daily and feed any excessively thin or fat foals separately. Since pelleted and extruded feeds cause lower glucose and insulin responses than do sweet feeds, the former two types of concentrate may be preferable to textured sweet feed mixes, especially in foals from bloodlines potentially predisposed to OCD.

Weanlings should be fed the same type of concentrate as when they were nursing and at the same rate as above and monitored carefully for signs of excessive weight gain or loss and DOD. Between 0.25 to 1.0% body weight of a properly formulated concentrate divided into two or three meals a day, with free choice access to good quality mixed legume/grass hay or pasture will maintain optimal growth rates of most light horse breeds while reducing the risk of DOD. The goal is to maintain steady growth, avoiding sudden increases or decreases, and to maintain good but not fat or thin body condition. Plain white or trace mineral salt and a good, clean source of water should be available free choice at all times.

If signs of epiphysitis (enlargement at the growth plates above the fetlocks and/or knees associated with lameness and reluctance to exercise) or other deformities (contracted tendons, angular deformities) appear, the ration is probably not properly balanced. The amount of concentrate fed should be temporarily reduced while the total ration's nutrient content is assessed. Any deficits or excesses should be corrected and a properly balanced ration reintroduced as soon as possible. Starving foals (feeding only grass hay and oats for a prolonged period of time, resulting in weight loss, poor growth and rough-looking hair coats) will not correct the problem on a long-term basis.

Yearlings' rations can be reduced to 12%-14% protein with lesser concentrations of minerals, but still above that usually found in mixes formulated for adult horses. Maintaining yearlings on the weanling rations will not hurt and may help, especially if horses are still growing fairly rapidly.

Table 1: Recommended concentrations of minerals* in rations fed to rapidly growing young horses.

Mineral	Range	* Other minerals such as manganese, magnesium, selenium and iron are probably important, but there are no data available on requirements of young horses for these nutrients. There are no data on vitamin requirements either, though over 10 times the recommended vitamin A resulted in weakened bones in ponies.
Calcium	0.8 to 1.0%
Phosphorus	0.4 to 0.6%
Copper	10 to 15 mg/kg feed
Zinc	40 to 60 mg/kg feed

"No Room At The Loading Dock Blues"

By Half Vast Connie

I went to the local feed store and what did I see?

At loading dock there were cars staring back at me!

It was my impression the dock was just for truck!

But to find a space depended on one's own luck!!!

There's P.T. Cruiser: its owner exits with duck in hand!

Did you hear my loud piercing yell, "Oh Damn! Oh Damn!"

Someone goes to their car with pound of bird seed-

Way out in parking lot a truck is getting 12 bags of feed!

Now the guy who loads the feed has a very skinny frame....

In my opinion, he really resembles "Icabod Crane!"

He's forced to take my feed down long ramp at end of store-

Once clocked his speed at hundred miles an hour or more!

I never in my life saw anyone go down ramp so fast!

There wasn't a doubt if he lived his butt would be grass!

The speed flipped his skinny bod' far above clouds, I say!

But to my dismay he came down in truck bed of hay!!!!

He brushed himself off and was soon on his way....

It appears to be an occurrence that happens each day!

I've thought about parking 'round the corner in the empty lot...

Then driving like a maniac when car leaves behind vacant spot!

I never get to back up to loading ramp with my Ford....

Somebody in car is there getting ad from bulletin board!

I've actually considered parking at dock all night....

Or driving there early at dawn's first light!

Once I came to feed store and much to my delight...

There wasn't a soul there anywhere in sight!

You should have seen my big Colgate smile!

I guess even a blind squirrel will find an acorn once in awhile!

Now I hate to tell you there's a moral you have to endure.....

If humans were less self-centered- we'd smile more, I'm sure!

Some of the challenges everyday in life that we face...

Would never occur if we simply gave each other some space!

CATCH A RIDE TO THE MARSHALL & STERLING FINALS IN NEW YORK!

What is the Marshall & Sterling League? It is a national organization that sponsors a year end final in Saugerties, NY each September. Riders who join can accrue points that lead to a National Ranking System by competing in the Equitation

Medals, Hunter Classics and Jumper Classics that are sponsored by the M&S League. Both Local shows and Rated Shows can hold sponsored classes – as the M&S League hopes to assist riders at the local level to work toward the rated shows as a springboard to other Finals Events.

One local rider has been working very hard over the past year to qualify for this year's Finals. Emily Terry began the year riding sales horses for other trainers in the M&S Children's Medal – an event that is judged on the rider. Emily has a young jumper who is coming along but not quite ready for a National Final – so she focused on the Medal, borrowing sale horses and training horses to focus on improving her own riding skills. Emily stayed in the top ten almost the entire year riding horses she had barely sat on for a few minutes before entering the show ring. She is currently ranked 13th out of 782 riders across the country. To her surprise, Emily also qualified both her young jumper and another jumper she has been "catch" riding since March! But her goal for this year was to make it to the Medal Finals in New York which she accomplished by "catch riding" 12 different horses in the M&S Medal – her regular ride was sold just a few weeks before the entry deadline, so Emily was offered a horse by another rider from the Tampa area to take to the National Finals. "He's probably the easiest horse I have had a chance to ride this year" says Emily. She only got to ride him for 20 minutes before having to send in entries and will not practice on him again until she arrives in New York! Emily rides and trains with Cornerstone Farm in Naples, Florida. Good Luck Emily – hard work always pays off in the end!

Who says you can't find
GOLD in Naples?

By Christine McGowan

A BIG congratulations to long time Naples resident Captain Jeff Player! With his gelding, Totally Golden Kid, also known as Moose, they swept the competition at this year's 2008 Palomino Horse Breeders Association World Show held in Tulsa Oklahoma. In 2008 Moose has won two (2) world championships, one (1) in Open color and one (1) in Amateur color. Moose also achieved one (1) reserve world championship in Amateur three (3) year old geldings. Moose was the 2007 Palomino Horse Breeders Association World Champion in the two (2) year old geldings and placed seventh at the 2007 American Quarter Horse Congress in Open two (2) year old geldings.

Horse tales is an area where original, unpublished works by local writers and artists will be featured. If you have a short story, poem, work of art or anything that you've created and are interested in seeing in print, please submit to Everything Equine. Everything Equine provides this opportunity for children and adults alike to show their creative abilities and talents to the entire community. Please limit your submissions to horse related tales that coincide with an equestrian or farm oriented way of life.

Horseback Safaris

Horseback Safaris - Standard one-hour, two-hour, or three-hour horseback safaris are available daily. Horseback Safaris can be arranged for riders with varying levels of experience. All guests should be at least 12 years of age; 10 years of age is an acceptable age with proven riding experience. Guests weighing more than 275 pounds will need to be assessed by our Equestrian Director before they are allowed to take a Horseback Safari. Call-in reservations are recommended in order to assure that we and our horses are ready for you.

A favorite with visitors is our two-night "Crescent J Cattle Drive Weekend Safari," which includes some training in Florida Cowhunter skills of ridin', ropin' and cow cuttin'. (Florida cattlemen weren't "cowboys" because hunting those wild Spanish-descent cattle in Florida's woods and swamps was a man's job, they said.) Choice of campground depends on weather, type of group and recommendation of the riding instructors.

Another favorite is similar, but shorter - an Overnight Trail Ride Safari combined with a next-day "Rawhide Roundup." More time is spent riding the wilderness trails of Forever Florida and learning about nature, less on cowpoke skills.

Corporate Co-workers, Schoolteachers, Professional Club, Flying Clubs, School Groups, Church Groups, Families, Friends, Scout troops or multi-troop Camporees - there are activities and a campground on Forever Florida or the Crescent J Ranch that are just right for a bonding experience. See the Facilities and Events page for more details.

From a small primitive one-troop Scout Camp on the Crescent J that has been used by Girl and Boy Scouts for more than 30 years, we expanded to a remote but up-scale campground 'way back in the wilderness of Forever Florida, then added two campgrounds in between and most recently, a large area "up front" (near the highway) that comfortably holds up to twenty Scout troops for a big Camporee.

Variations on these basic campouts and safaris can be worked out with our staff.

*7,000 mg or more of Methionine (in a 1,000 lb. horse) can block or inhibit the body's ability to use copper if given at that dosage for more than 30 days.

**Manganese (Amino Acid Chelate), the most bioavailable form of Manganese. Check if your hoof supplement is using this form.

***Glucosamine HCl has been proven to be less bioavailable than Glucosamine Sulphate 2KCl, with significantly lower absorption. See Web site for more info.
